European Summer School on Information Science (ESSIS)

July 1st – July 6th 2018 in Graz, Austria

Graz Clock Tower

Interested in Information Science?

- You want to enjoy a unique learning experience with an international group at a historic location?
- You want to know what information science deals with?
- You want to enroll in a Master program in information science and come from another discipline?
- You want to receive a student grant for participation?

The European Summer School on Information Science (ESSIS) is an intensive one-week teaching event for BA students other than information science who want to enroll in a MA program in information science. The lectures in core areas of information science will enable students to close their knowledge gaps and to prepare better for a relevant MA program.

You will meet students and professors from other countries and other schools of information science. Enjoy networking and working with many other students.

Program

The courses of ESSIS will cover the following four topics:

- Introduction to Information Science
- Research Methodology in Information Science
- Information Seeking and Retrieval
- Evaluation of Information Services.

There will be interactive lectures. Furthermore, students will work on group assignments.

The social program will allow you to experience the historical old city of Graz. In addition, we will visit Admont Abbey library, the largest library of its kind, and the Gesäuse National Park with its unique and picturesque rocky mountains.

Student Grants

Several student grants are available for students who want to participate in ESSIS 2018. Most grant recipients are nominated by the partner universities involved in EINFOSE project (sokrat.ffos.hr/einfose):

- University of Osijek,
- University of Boras,
- University of Graz,
- University of Hildesheim,
- Hacettepe University Ankara,
- University of Barcelona,
- University of Pisa and
- University of Ljubljana.

Selected students will receive a room and full board in "Bildungshaus Mariatrost" (5 nights) plus travel support of up to 275 € based on real expenses.

Registration fees for nominated students, which are 90 € including room and board during the entire Summer School, will be covered by the nominating institution. Other students (not from ESSIS partner universities) can register for a price of 400€ and are admitted if space is available.
